WINERY

Located in Rueda, our winery was created in the Rueda appellation with distribution in region before we expanded quickly into the Spanish domestic market and abroad.

After working committedly for over forty years, constantly innovating and with a clear focus on the vineyards, Palacio de Bornos has now become one of the best-known brands wine to be made.

The first years were spent the team working for continuing success in establishing the brand in the Castilla y León the future. In 1978 we were the first winery to produce sparkling wine in Castilla y León. The aim was to showcase the distinct personality and character of the Verdejo in a single variety "traditional method" sparkling wine, a process which enables very high quality sparkling Palacio de Bornos owns over 300 hectares of vineyards, the vines of which are now over 30 years old, in the areas of Rueda, Pollos and La Seca.

When selecting the plots, we placed the greatest importance on soil quality, carrying out different precision soil analyses and surveys, to be sure of the soil structures and ascertain an optimal growing environment for the vines.

These vineyard sites contain a clay-limestone sub-soil below a gravelly top layer with a great concentration of pebbles near the surface. This enables good soil aeration and drainage, the ideal terroir for vines to develop.

INNOVATION

The special attention we have focused on the vineyard at Palacio de Bornos has led to ongoing research projects being set up and carried out mainly in the fields of clonal selection, vine-spacing and density, rootstocks and foliage nutrition. These have taken place at experimental estates, alongside sustainable agriculture projects implementing environmentally-friendly methods. The results, once positively verified, are introduced in the whole of our vineyards. The aim has always been to plant the best vineyards in the best soils in order to achieve the best wines.

Subsequently, in 1981, the winery separated from the Huarte family and embarked on a new phase of its history, a period which enjoyed special impetus, notably in 2001 when a new, ambitious project was set up to renovate the wine-making facilities and restructure the vineyard, aiming to establish the wine estate as a leader in the domestic and international markets. Most certainly, generation after generation, we have maintained the spirit of the first Lord of Sarría.

The grapes come from vines that are between 25 and 80 years old, deep-rooted in the soils, resistant to the rigours of the local climate, and producing very low yields of the highest quality grapes. FINCA LA LOMBANA

FOUNDED IN 1851 • A PRODUCTION OF AROUND 300,000 THE 'LA LOMBANA' ESTATE

WINERY

1851, when Martin Maria Guelbenzu reportedly paid his taxes in demijohns of wine. It was his awards in 1880 in the form of medals and accolades which helped enhance the winery's image. Subsequently these awards figured on the labels of its range of wines, as can still be seen today. Several generations later, Ricardo Guelbenzu took over the reins of the winery, setting in motion a new era of growth and launch of what were to become the flagships origin of the new Guelbenzu Vierlas label.

Records of Guelbenzu's history date back to of our new range of wines, Guelbenzu Evo and Azul. The range was completed in 1999 with the addition of the winery's iconic brand, Guelbenzu son, Miguel Guelbenzu, who modernised and Lautus. Evo means "duration of eternal things", developed the winery, winning prestigious and with this name we have sought to mirror this wine's ability to age and improve over time. The name Lautus refers to "laureate" or "awardwinning", a name to convey the renown that this wine was expected to achieve in time. In 2001, the winery gained fresh impetus with the inauguration of its new wine-making facilities in Vierlas (an area between Aragon and Navarra), development, which began in 1992 with the in the vicinity of La Lombana, thus becoming the

The Guelbenzu vineyard covers 46 hectares made up of vines that are over 20 years old. These are located in Vierlas, right in the heart of the Queiles valley, at the Lombana vineyard estate. La Lombana is an extended strip of land made up of soils originating from the tertiary period, dating back over 22.5 million years. The poor, gravelly soil is superb for vine-growing thanks to its texture, fast drainage, low yields, ability to cope with drought and its low risk of frost. The proximity of Mount Moncayo brings about wide fluctuations of temperature between day and night, which greatly enhance tannin and anthocyanin formation, essential for the production of wines with roundness, good body, character and ageing ability. In addition, the north wind which blows through the area, is a constant strong, dry, cold wind with great drying capacity, which favours evaporation and prevents the buildup of fog and humidity.
